Chairman's Statement

In early 2020, the COVID-19 outbreak pulled at the heartstrings of people in all sectors of society. As a listed company in the medical service industry, the Group actively participated in the fight against the COVID-19 outbreak while doing its own epidemic prevention work. We provided free psychological crisis intervention for the public through the psychological counseling hotline and Internet hospital platforms such as WeDoctor. In addition, we appointed senior psychological experts to go to the front of Wuhan with Zhejiang medical team. During the epidemic period, due to traffic control, the Group provided remote diagnosis and treatment through cloud hospitals and offered door-to-door inspection and drug delivering, so as to ensure the drug supply for patients of long-term medication with chronic mental disorders, then the COVID - 19 will not have any significant impact on the business performance and financial status of the Company.

Looking forward, the National Medical and Health System Reform will be further deepened. While controlling the dramatic rise in overall cost, the medical insurance department will constantly adjust the cost structure and improve the service value of medical personnel. In addition, after the COVID-19 outbreak, China will probably increase investment in public health and gradually open medical insurance payment for remote diagnosis and treatment, which will create opportunities for the development of Internet medical services. In the face of opportunities and challenges, we will continue to plough deep in psychological healthcare and treatment, unswervingly focusing on the Group's development strategy and core values. We will implement the strategy of "Talent First" and "Rejuvenate the hospital through science and technology", build a social

Business Review

In 2019, the National Healthcare Security Administration implemented a series of reform measures to control medical insurance expenditure, such as procurement with volume in 4+7 pilot cities and the reform of medical insurance payment methods. The Group actively adjusted its strategy to adapt to medical insurance supervision requirements. While ensuring the quality of healthcare services, the Group improved and adjusted the charging structure to control medical expenses. The following progress has been made:

In 2019, the Group's owned hospital business developed steadily. Hangzhou Yining Hospital, Taizhou Kangning Hospital and Luqiao Cining Hospital, which were opened in 2018 as well as Wenling Nanfang Hospital, Nanjing Yining Hospital, Guanxian Yining Hospital and Heze Yining Hospital, which were consolidated by mergers and acquisitions, all have been

Management Discussion and Analysis

Looking into the future, with the further development of building a healthy China and the strong demand for healthcare service, the medical insurance payment methods will be more scientific and reasonable. While expanding the healthcare service network, the Group will further optimize the service positioning, actively dock with commercial insurance, vigorously expand non-medical insurance business, further develop high-end markets with special needs, explore the internet medical service model and strive to achieve stable and sustainable development of healthcare business.

Business Highlights

In 2019, the Group's informatization was further improved, and a series of core systems of psychiatric specialty hospitals initially achieved independent research and development and independent copyright and were officially sold. In addition, the Group also jointly established overseas academician work stations with Canadian experts, and was committed to cooperating in artificial intelligence research and medical clinical education.

Management Discussion and Analysis

Business Outlook

The Group's financial position and operating results are mainly subject to the following risks:

- (i) Risk relating to high reimbursement amount from public medical insurance. From 2017 to 2019, reimbursement amount from public medical insurance accounted for 53.8%, 56.6% and 58.2% of the total cash received from sales of goods and rendering of service for the respective years. If the Group's healthcare facilities are unable to maintain the qualification of designated medical insurance institutions in the future, or there are adverse changes on the national public medical insurance policy in respect of treatment of mental illness, the Group's operating results will be affected adversely;
- (ii) Risk relating to shortage of professional medical talents. Under the laws and regulations of the PRC, healthcare facilities shall maintain a certain number of medical staff. With the increase in the number of healthcare facilities of the Group, if we are unable to recruit or maintain adequate medical staff, we will face difficulty to provide patients with the desirable medical services, which in return will adversely affect our operating results; and
- (iii) Risk relating to failure to renew qualifications and licenses required for our operations. Healthcare facilities are required to obtain the Medical Practice License before carrying out their businesses, which usually has valid period and requires regular inspection by the regulatory authorities. If the healthcare facilities of the Group are unable to renew their licenses in the future due to poor management or non-compliant operation, our operating results will be affected adversely.

Looking into the future, the Group will leverage on the favorable environment in China, the government of which encourages the social capital to establish healthcare facilities to implement and improve a number of medium- and long-term strategic layouts. While continuing to expand the network of healthcare facilities and strengthen the Group's market position, the Group will strengthen scientific research, personnel training and informatization construction, with a view to improving its service level of healthcare facilities.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current year. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters identified in our audit are summarised as follows:

- Assessment for goodwill impairment of healthcare service
- Assessment for the impairment of contractual rights to provide management service

Assessment for goodwill impairment of healthcare service

Refer to Note 2(18) 'Impairment of long-term assets', Note 2(18) 'Critical accounting estimates and key assumptions' (a) (iv), and Note 4(15) 'Goodwill' to the financial statements.

Management is required to test goodwill for impairment on an annual basis as set out in the Accounting Standards for Business Enterprises. Management allocates goodwill arising from business combinations to respective hospitals for impairment test, as every hospital acquired is regarded as an individual asset group. As at 31 December 2019, the carrying amount of goodwill allocated to healthcare service amounted to RMB54,346,633.

Management used value-in-use method to calculate the recoverable amount of asset groups consisting of goodwill, which required forecasts of the present value of future cash

Assessment for the impairment of contractual rights to provide management service

Refer to Note 2(28) 'Critical accounting estimates and key assumptions' (a)(i), and Note 4(14) 'Intangible assets' to the financial statements.

As at 31 December 2019, the carrying amount of contractual rights to provide management service by Wenzhou Kangning Hospital amounted to RMB45,162,735 (31 December 2018: RMB122,858,553). For the year ended 31 December 2019, the actual operating results of hospitals under management did not meet the budgets, which suggested there was an indication that contractual rights to provide management service might be impaired, management was therefore required to perform an impairment assessment.

As the management fee income of Wenzhou Kangning Hospital is linked to these hospitals' performance, management used value-in-use method to calculate the recoverable amount of the contractual rights, which is determined based on the forecasts of cash flows from exercising the contractual rights on a continuous basis. Such forecasts involved management's significant judgements and estimates, comprising average number of beds in operation, average in-patient spending per day per bed, gross margin, discount rate before tax and growth rate in the stable period. Based on management's assessment, contractual rights to provide management service were not impaired as at 31 December 2019.

We paid special attention to this matter because contractual rights to provide management service have significant impact on consolidated financial statements, and their impairment assessment involves significant judgements and estimates on the present value of cash flows from exercising the contractual rights on a continuous basis.

We involved our internal valuation expert to evaluate the appropriateness of Wenzhou Kangning Hospital's using the value-in-use method to determine the recoverable amount of contractual rights to provide management service and the reasonableness of the discount rate before tax and the growth rate in the stable period. We assessed the reasonableness of the discount rate before tax, taking into account the cost of capital of the Wenzhou Kangning Hospital and the comparable organisations. We assessed the reasonableness of the growth rate in the stable period, with reference to the long-term average growth rate of the industry.

We obtained future cash flow forecasts used in calculations for impairment, which were prepared by management of hospitals under management and approved by management of Wenzhou Kangning Hospital.

We assessed the reasonableness of key assumptions adopted for cash flow forecasts, including average number of beds in operation, average in-patient spending per day per bed, and gross margin. We assessed whether key assumptions were reasonable by comparing them with historical data of other similar hospitals in the Group, and with local medical insurance reimbursement policies and per capita consumption levels in areas where these hospitals under management are located.

We also compared the current year budgets of these hospitals with their actual operating results to assess the quality of management's cash flow forecasts.

We performed sensitivity analysis on the above key assumptions to ascertain the extent to which adverse changes, either individually or in aggregate, would result in the contractual rights being impaired.

We checked the calculation accuracy of the present value of future cash flows expected to be derived from contractual rights to provide management service.

Based on results of above work performed, we found management's significant judgements and estimates involved in assessing whether contractual rights to provide management service were impaired are supported by available evidence.

Other Information

Management of Wenzhou Kangning Hospital is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises all of the information included in 2019 annual report of Wenzhou Kangning Hospital other than the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Audit Committee for the Financial Statements

Management of Wenzhou Kangning Hospital is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with the CASs, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing these financial statements, management is responsible for assessing of Wenzhou Kangning Hospital's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate Wenzhou Kangning Hospital or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Audit Committee is responsible for overseeing Wenzhou Kangning Hospital's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether these financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with CSAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with CSAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on Wenzhou Kangning Hospital's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in these financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause Wenzhou Kangning Hospital to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation (including the disclosures), structure and content of the financial statements, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within Wenzhou Kangning Hospital to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with the Audit Committee regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Auditor's Report

We also provide the Audit Committee with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

(6) Preparation of consolidated financial statements

The consolidated financial statements comprise the financial statements of the Company and all of its subsidiaries.

Subsidiaries are consolidated from the date on which the Group obtains control and are de-consolidated from the date that such control ceases. For a subsidiary that is acquired in a business combination involving enterprises under common control, it is included in the consolidated financial statements from the date when it, together with the Company, comes under common control of the ultimate controlling party. The portion of the net profits realised before the combination date is presented separately in the consolidated income statement.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, where the accounting policies and the accounting periods of the Company and subsidiaries are inconsistent, the financial statements of the subsidiaries are adjusted in accordance with the accounting policies and the accounting period of the Company. For subsidiaries acquired from business combination involving enterprises not under common control, the individual financial statements of the subsidiaries are adjusted based on the fair value of the identifiable net assets at the acquisition date.

All significant intra-group balances, transactions and unrealised profits are eliminated in the consolidated financial statements. The portion of subsidiaries' shareholders' equity and the portion of subsidiaries' net profits and losses and comprehensive incomes for the period not attributable to the Company are recognised as non-controlling interests, net profit attributed to non-controlling interests and total comprehensive incomes attributed to non-controlling interests, and presented separately in the consolidated financial statements under shareholders' equity, net profits and total comprehensive income respectively. Unrealised profits and losses resulting from the sale of assets by the Company to its subsidiaries are fully eliminated against net profit attributable to shareholders of the parent. Unrealised profits and losses resulting from the sale of assets by a subsidiary to the Company are eliminated and allocated between net profit attributable to shareholders of the parent and net profit attributed to non-controlling interests in accordance with the allocation proportion of the parent in the subsidiary. Unrealised profits and losses resulting from the sale of assets by one subsidiary to another are eliminated and allocated between net profit attributable to shareholders of the parent and net profit attributed to non-controlling interests in accordance with the allocation proportion of the parent in the subsidiary.

If the accounting treatment of a transaction is inconsistent in the financial statements at the Group level and at the Company or its subsidiary level, adjustment will be made from the perspective of the Group.

(7) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand, deposits that can be readily drawn on demand, and short-term and highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

(8) Foreign currency translation

Foreign currency transactions

Foreign currency transactions are translated into recording currency using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions.

At the balance sheet date, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are translated into recording currency using the spot exchange rates on the balance sheet date. Exchange differences arising from these translations are recognised in profit or loss for the current period, except for those attributable to foreign currency borrowings that have been taken out specifically for acquisition or construction of qualifying assets, which are capitalised as part of the cost of those assets. Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at historical costs are translated at the balance sheet date using the spot exchange rates at the date of the transactions. The effect of exchange rate changes on cash is presented separately in the statement of cash flows.

(9) Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity. A financial asset or a financial liability is recognised when the Group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

(a) Financial assets

(i) Classification and measurement

Based on the business model for managing the financial assets and the contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial assets, financial assets are classified as: (1) financial assets at amortised cost; (2) financial assets at fair value through profit or loss.

The financial assets are measured at fair value at initial recognition. Related transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial assets are included in the initially recognised amounts, except for the financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, the related transaction costs of which are recognised directly in profit or loss for the current period. Accounts receivable or notes receivable arising from sales of products or rendering of services (excluding or without regard to significant financing components) are initially recognised at the consideration that is entitled to be charged by the Group as expected.

Debt instruments

The debt instruments held by the Group refer to the instruments that meet the definition of financial liabilities from the perspective of the issuer, and are measured in the following two ways:

Measured at amortised cost:

The objective of the Group's business model is to hold the financial assets to collect the contractual cash flows, and the contractual cash flow characteristics are consistent with a basic lending arrangement, which gives rise on specified dates to the contractual cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. The interest income of such financial assets is recognised using the effective interest method. Such financial assets mainly comprise cash at bank and on hand, notes and accounts receivables, other receivables, debt investments and long-term receivables, etc. Debt investments and long-term receivables that are due within one year (inclusive) as from the balance sheet date are included in the current portion of non-current assets; debt investments with maturities of no more than one year (inclusive) at the time of acquisition are included in other current assets.

Measured at fair value through profit or loss:

Debt instruments held by the Group that are not divided into those at amortised cost, or those measured at fair value through other comprehensive income, are measured at fair value through profit or loss and included in financial assets held for trading. At initial recognition, Group designates a portion of financial assets as at fair value through profit or loss to eliminate or significantly reduce an accounting mismatch. Financial assets that are due within one year (inclusive) as from the balance sheet date and are expected to be held over one year are included in other non-current financial assets.

Equity instruments

Investments in equity instruments, over which the Group has no control, joint control or significant influence, are measured at fair value through profit or loss under financial assets held for trading; investments in equity instruments expected to be held over one year as from the balance sheet date are included in other non-current financial assets.

(ii) Impairment

For financial assets measured at amortised cost such as accounts receivable and other receivables, the Group recognises loss provisions on the basis of expected credit losses (“ECL”).

Giving consideration to reasonable and supportable information on past events, current conditions and forecasts of future economic conditions, as well as the default risk weight, the Group recognises the ECL as the probability-weighted amount of the present value of the difference between the cash flows receivable from the contract and the cash flows expected to collect.

As at each balance sheet date, the ECL of financial instruments at different stages are measured respectively. 12-month ECL provision is recognised for financial instruments in Stage 1 that have not had a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition; lifetime ECL provision is recognised for financial instruments in Stage 2 that have had a significant increase in credit risk yet without credit impairment since initial recognition; and lifetime ECL provision is recognised for financial instruments in Stage 3 that have had credit impairment since initial recognition.

For the financial instruments with lower credit risk on the balance sheet date, the Group assumes there is no significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition and recognises the 12-month ECL provision.

For the financial instruments in Stage 1, Stage 2 and with lower credit risk, the Group calculates the interest income by applying the effective interest rate to the gross carrying amount (before deduction of the impairment provision). For the financial instrument in Stage 3, the interest income is calculated by applying the effective interest rate to the amortised cost (after deduction of the impairment provision from the gross carrying amount).

For accounts receivables, irrespective of whether a significant financing component exists, the Group measures the loss provision according to lifetime ECL.

In case the ECL of an individually assessed financial asset cannot be evaluated with reasonable cost, the Group divides the receivables into certain groupings based on credit risk characteristics, and calculates the ECL for the groupings. Basis for determine groupings is as follows:

Accounts receivable grouping	Medical service receivables derived from patients, social security and other institutions
Other receivables grouping	Loans to third parties
Other receivables grouping	Prepayments
Other receivables grouping	Receivables from related parties
Other receivables grouping	Deposit and guarantee
Other receivables grouping	Others

With consideration to historical credit loss experience, current conditions and forecasts of future economic conditions, the Group prepares the cross-reference between the number of overdue days of accounts receivable and the lifetime ECL rate, and calculates the ECL of accounts receivable that are classified into groupings.

Based on the exposure at default and the 12-month/lifetime ECL rate, the Group calculates the ECL other receivables that are classified into groupings with consideration to historical credit losses experience, the current conditions and forecasts of future economic conditions.

The Group recognises the loss provision made or reversed into profit or loss for the current period.

(c) Determination of fair value of financial instruments

The fair value of a financial instrument that is traded in an active market is determined at the quoted price in the active market. The fair value of a financial instrument that is not traded in an active market is determined by using a valuation technique. In valuation, the Group adopts valuation techniques applicable in the current situation and supported by adequate available data and other information, selects inputs with the same characteristics as those of assets or liabilities considered in relevant transactions of assets or liabilities by market participants, and gives priority to the use of relevant observable inputs. When relevant observable inputs are not available or feasible, unobservable inputs are adopted.

(10) Inventories

(a) Classification

Inventories include pharmaceuticals, turnover materials and properties held for sale, and are measured at the lower of cost and net realisable value.

(b) Valuation method for inventory issued

Pharmaceuticals and turnover materials are accounted using the method of first-in first-out when issued.

Inventories are measured initially at cost. The cost of properties held for sale includes the cost of land, construction cost and other costs. Borrowing costs eligible for capitalisation are also included in the cost of properties held for sale.

(c) Basis for determining net realisable values of inventories and method for making provision for decline in the value of inventories

Provision for decline in the value of inventories is determined at the excess amount of the carrying amounts of the inventories over their net realisable value. Net realisable value is determined based on the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less the estimated costs necessary to make the sale and related taxes.

(d) The Group adopts the perpetual inventory system.

(11) Long-term equity investments

Long-term equity investments comprise the Company's long-term equity investments in its subsidiaries, and the Group's long-term equity investments in its associates.

Subsidiaries are the investees over which the Company is able to exercise control. An associate is the investee over which the Group has significant influence by participating in the financial and operating policy decisions.

Investments in subsidiaries are presented in the Company's financial statements using the cost method, and are adjusted to the equity method when preparing the consolidated financial statements. Investments in associates are accounted for using the equity method.

(a) Determination of investment costs

For long-term equity investments acquired through a business combination: for long-term equity investments acquired through a business combination involving enterprises under common control, the investment cost shall be the portion of carrying amount of acquiree's equity in the consolidated financial statements of the ultimate controlling party at the combination date; for long-term equity investment acquired through a business combination involving enterprises not under common control, the investment cost shall be the combination cost.

For long-term equity investments acquired not through a business combination: for long-term equity investment acquired by payment in cash, the initial investment cost shall be the purchase price actually paid; for long-term equity investment acquired by issuing equity securities, the initial investment cost shall be the fair value of the equity securities issued.

(b) Subsequent measurement and recognition of profit or loss

Long-term equity investments accounted for using the cost method are measured at initial investment cost. Cash dividend or profit distribution declared by the investees is recognised as investment income in profit or loss for the current period.

For long-term equity investments that are accounted for using the equity method, where the initial investment cost exceeds the Group's share of the fair value of the investee's identifiable net assets at the time of acquisition, the investment is initially measured at cost. Where the initial investment cost is less than the Group's share of the fair value of the investee's identifiable net assets at the time of acquisition, the difference is included in profit or loss for the current period and the cost of the long-term equity investment is adjusted upwards accordingly.

(12) Investment properties

Investment properties, including land use rights that have already been leased out, buildings that are held for the purpose of leasing and buildings that are being constructed or developed for future use for leasing, are measured initially at cost. Subsequent expenditures incurred in relation to an investment property are included in the cost of the investment property when it is probable that the associated economic benefits will flow to the Group and their costs can be reliably measured; otherwise, the expenditures are recognised in profit or loss for the period in which they are incurred.

Investment properties are subsequently measured using the fair value model and are not depreciated or amortised. The carrying amount of investment properties is adjusted based on their fair value at the balance sheet date, and the difference between the fair value and the original carrying amount is recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

When an investment property is transferred to owner-occupied property, it is reclassified to fixed asset or intangible asset with the carrying amount determined at the fair value of the investment property at the date of the transfer, and the difference between the fair value and the original carrying amount of the investment property is recognised in profit or loss for the current period. When an owner-occupied property is transferred out for earning rentals or for capital appreciation, the fixed asset or intangible asset is transferred to investment properties with the carrying amount determined at the fair value at the date of the transfer. If the fair value at the date of the transfer is less than the original carrying amount of the fixed asset or the intangible asset, the difference is recognised in profit or loss for the current period; otherwise, it is included in other comprehensive income.

An investment property is derecognised on disposal or when the investment property is permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefits are expected from its disposal. The net amount of proceeds from sale, transfer, retirement or damage of an investment property after its carrying amount and related taxes and expenses is recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

(13) Fixed assets

(a) Recognition and initial measurement of fixed assets

Fixed assets comprise buildings, medical equipment, motor vehicles, electronic equipment and other equipment.

Fixed assets are recognised when it is probable that the related economic benefits will flow to the Group and the costs can be reliably measured. Fixed assets purchased or constructed by the Group are initially measured at cost at the time of acquisition.

Subsequent expenditures incurred for a fixed asset are included in the cost of the fixed asset when it is probable that the associated economic benefits will flow to the Group and the related cost can be reliably measured. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognised. All the other subsequent expenditures are recognised in profit or loss for the period in which they are incurred.

(b) Depreciation method for fixed assets

Fixed assets are depreciated using the straight-line method to allocate the cost of the assets to their estimated residual values over their estimated useful lives. For the fixed assets that have been provided for impairment loss, the related depreciation charge is prospectively determined based upon the adjusted carrying amounts over their remaining useful lives.

The estimated useful lives, the estimated net residual values expressed as a percentage of cost and the annual depreciation rates of fixed assets are as follows:

	Estimated useful lives	Estimated net residual values	Annual depreciation rates
Buildings	35 years	5%	2.7%
Medical equipment	3 – 10 years	0% – 5%	9.5% – 33.3%
Motor vehicles	4 – 10 years	5%	9.5% – 23.8%
Electronic equipment and other equipment	3 – 10 years	0% – 5%	9.5% – 33.3%

(15) Borrowing costs (continued)

For the specific borrowings obtained for the acquisition or construction of an asset qualifying for capitalisation, the amount of borrowing costs eligible for capitalisation is determined by deducting any interest income earned from depositing the unused specific borrowings in the banks or any investment income arising on the temporary investment of those borrowings during the capitalisation period.

For general borrowings utilised for the acquisition and construction of an asset qualifying for capitalisation, the capitalised amount of the general borrowings is determined by the weighted average of the excess of accumulated capital expenditure over capital expenditure of the special borrowings multiplied by the weighted average effective interest rate of the utilised general borrowings. The effective interest rate is the interest rate at which the future cash flows of the borrowings over the estimated life or a shorter applicable period are discounted into the initial recognised amount of the borrowings.

(16) Intangible assets

Intangible assets are measured at cost, including land use rights, software use rights, contractual rights to provide management services and licences.

(i) Land use rights

Land use rights are amortised on the straight-line basis over their approved use period of 50 years. If the acquisition costs of the land use rights and the buildings located thereon cannot be reasonably allocated between the land use rights and the buildings, all of the acquisition costs are recognised as fixed assets.

(ii) Software use fees

Software use fees are amortised on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of 5 years.

(iii) Contractual right to provide management services

Contractual rights to provide management services are the rights to manage a hospital, which are subsequently measured at costs (the amounts paid to acquire such rights) less accumulated amortisation and any accumulated impairment losses.

Contractual rights to provide management services are amortised on a straight-line basis over the contractual terms as below:

- the research and analysis of preliminary market survey indicate that products manufactured by medical systems and software are marketable;
- adequate technical and financial supports are available for development of medical systems and software and subsequent support operations; and
- expenditure on development of medical systems and software can be reliably collected.

Other development expenditures that do not meet the conditions above are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred. Development costs previously recognised as expenses are not recognised as an asset in a subsequent period. Capitalised expenditure on the development phase is presented as development costs in the balance sheet and transferred to intangible assets at the date that the asset is ready for its intended use.

(vii) Impairment of intangible assets

The carrying amount of an intangible asset is reduced to the recoverable amount when the recoverable amount is below the carrying amount (Note 2(18)).

(17) Long-term prepaid expenses

Long-term prepaid expenses include the expenditure for improvements to fixed assets held under operating leases, and other expenditures that have been incurred but should be recognised as expenses over more than one year in the current year and subsequent periods. Long-term prepaid expenses are amortised on the straight-line basis over the expected beneficial period and are presented at actual expenditure net of accumulated amortisation.

(18) Impairment of long-term assets

Fixed assets, construction in progress, intangible assets with finite useful lives and long-term equity investments in subsidiaries and associates are tested for impairment if there is any indication that the assets may be impaired at the balance sheet date. If the result of the impairment test indicates that the recoverable amount of an asset is less than its carrying amount, a provision for impairment and an impairment loss are recognised for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs to sell and the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from the asset. Provision for asset impairment is determined and recognised on the individual asset basis. If it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the recoverable amount of a group of assets to which the asset belongs is determined. A group of assets is the smallest group of assets that is able to generate independent cash inflows.

Goodwill that is separately presented in the financial statements is tested at least annually for impairment, irrespective of whether there is any indication that it may be impaired. In conducting the test, the carrying value of goodwill is allocated to the related asset group or groups of asset groups which are expected to benefit from the synergies of the business combination. If the result of the test indicates that the recoverable amount of an asset group or a group of asset groups, including the allocated goodwill, is lower than its carrying amount, the corresponding impairment loss is recognised. The impairment loss is first deducted from the carrying amount of goodwill that is allocated to the asset group or group of asset groups, and then deducted from the carrying amounts of other assets within the asset group or group of asset groups in proportion to the carrying amounts of assets other than goodwill.

Once the above asset impairment loss is recognised, it will not be reversed for the value recovered in the subsequent periods.

(c) Basic pensions

The Group's employees participate in the basic pension plan set up and administered by local authorities of Ministry of Human Resource and Social Security. Monthly payments of premiums on the basic pensions are calculated according to the bases and percentage prescribed by the relevant local authorities. When employees retire, the relevant local authorities are obliged to pay the basic pensions to them. The amounts based on the above calculations are recognised as liabilities in the accounting period in which the service has been rendered by the employees, with a corresponding charge to the profit or loss for the current period or the cost of relevant assets.

(20) Dividend distribution

Cash dividends distribution is recognised as a liability in the period in which the dividends are approved by the shareholders' meeting.

(21) Provisions

Provisions for contingencies such as pending litigation are recognised when the Group has a present obligation, it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably.

A provision is initially measured at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the related present obligation. Factors surrounding a contingency, such as the risks, uncertainties and the time value of money, are taken into account as a whole in reaching the best estimate of a provision. Where the effect of the time value of money is material, the best estimate is determined by discounting the related future cash outflows. The increase in the discounted amount of the provision arising from passage of time is recognised as interest expense.

The carrying amount of provisions is reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimate.

The provisions expected to be settled within one year since the balance sheet date are classified as other current liabilities.

(22) Share-based payments

(a) The types of share-based payments

A share-based payment is a transaction in which the Group grants equity instruments or assumes liabilities that are determined based on based on equity instruments, in exchange for services rendered by employees or other parties. Equity instruments include the equity instruments linked to the Company, or other accounting entities within the same group. Share-based payments are divided into equity-settled share-based payments and cash-settled share-based payments. For the year ended 31 December 2019, the Group did not hold any cash-settled share-based payments.

The Company's restricted share incentive plan is equity-settled share-based payments for exchange of services rendered by employees, and is measured at the fair value of the restricted shares at the grant date. For share-based payments that are not exercisable until services in the vesting period are completed, at each balance sheet date within the vesting period, the services obtained in the current period shall, based on the best estimate of the number of vested equity instruments, be included in the relevant costs or expenses at the fair value of the equity instruments at the grant date, with capital reserve increased accordingly.

(b) Method to determine the fair value of equity instruments

The fair value of restricted shares is determined based on the difference between the fair value and the grant price of the Group's restricted shares at the grant date.

(c) Basis for determining the best estimate of exercisable equity instruments

As at each balance sheet date in the vesting period, the Group makes best estimate in accordance with the newly acquired information such as changes in the number of employees entitled to equity instruments, and amends the number of exercisable equity instruments.

(23) Revenue recognition

The Group recognises revenue at the amount of the consideration to which the Group is expected to receive when the customer obtains control over relevant goods or services.

(a) Revenue from rendering of services – Treatments, other medical services and expertise services

Revenue from rendering of services includes revenue from rendering of treatments, other medical services and expertise services. The Group recognises revenue based on the out-patient and in-patient services rendered every day. The amount with unconditional collection right obtained by the Group is recognised as accounts receivable, and loss provision for accounts receivable is recognised on the basis of ECL (Note 2(9)). If the contract price received or receivable exceeds the amount for the completed service, the excess portion will be recognised as contract liabilities. Contract assets and contract liabilities under the same contract are presented on a net basis. Such transactions are settled by payment of social security card, bank card or cash.

(b) Pharmaceutical sales

Pharmaceuticals of the Group are sold directly to customers in a retail manner and revenue is recognised when customers purchase the pharmaceuticals.

(c) Management services

The Group recognises revenue from management services based on the progress when management services are rendered and related benefits can be reliably measured.

(d) Revenue from property leasing

Rental income from property leasing is recognised on a straight-line basis as agreed in the contract or agreement signed with the leasee.

(e) Revenue from sales of properties

Revenue from sales of properties is recognised when the risks and rewards of properties are transferred to the purchasers when the construction of relevant properties has been completed and the properties have been delivered to the purchasers and collectability of related receivables is reasonably assured. Deposits and instalments received on properties sold prior to the date of revenue recognition are included in the consolidated balance sheet as contract liabilities under current liabilities.

(24) Government grants

Government grants refer to the monetary or non-monetary assets obtained by the Group from the government, including tax return, financial subsidy, etc.

Government grants are recognised when the grants can be received and the Group can comply with all attached conditions. If a government grant is a monetary asset, it will be measured at the amount received or receivable. If a government grant is a non-monetary asset, it will be measured at its fair value. If it is unable to obtain its fair value reliably, it will be measured at its nominal amount.

Government grants related to assets are recorded as deferred income and recognised in profit or loss on a systemic basis over the useful lives of the assets.

Government grants related to income that compensate future costs, expenses or losses are recorded as deferred income and recognised in profit or loss in reporting the related costs, expenses or losses; government grants related to income that compensate incurred costs, expenses or losses are recognised in profit or loss directly in the current period. The Group applies the presentation method consistently to the similar government grants in the financial statements.

Government grants that are related to ordinary activities are included in operating profit, otherwise, they are recorded in non-operating income or expenses.

(25) Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are calculated and recognised based on the differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts (temporary differences). Deferred tax asset is recognised for the deductible losses that can be carried forward to subsequent years for deduction of the taxable profit in accordance with the tax laws. No deferred tax liability is recognised for a temporary difference arising from the initial recognition of goodwill. No deferred tax asset or deferred tax liability is recognised for the temporary differences resulting from the initial recognition of assets or liabilities due to a transaction other than a business combination, which affects neither accounting profit nor taxable profit (or deductible loss). At the balance sheet date, deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the period when the asset is realised or the liability is settled.

Deferred tax assets are only recognised for deductible temporary differences, deductible losses and tax credits to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available in the future against which the deductible temporary differences, deductible losses and tax credits can be utilised.

When it is probable that the temporary differences arising from investments in subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures will be reversed in the foreseeable future and that the taxable profit will be available in the future against which the temporary differences can be utilised, the corresponding deferred tax assets are recognised.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when:

For short-term leases with a term of 12 months or less and leases of an individual asset (when new) of low value, the Group may, instead of recognising right-of-use assets and lease liabilities, include the lease payments in the cost of the underlying assets or in the profit or loss for the current period on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

The Group as the lessor

A lease is classified as a finance lease if it transfers substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of an underlying asset. An operating lease is a lease other than a finance lease.

(a) Operating leases

Where the Group leases out self-owned buildings and motor vehicles under operating leases, rental income therefrom is recognised on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Variable rental that is linked to a certain percentage of sales is recognised in rental income as incurred.

(b) Finance leases

At the commencement date, the Group recognises the lease payments receivable under a finance lease and derecognises relevant assets. The lease payments receivable under a finance lease are presented as long-term receivables; the lease payments receivable under a finance lease due within one year (inclusive) as from the balance sheet date are included in the current portion of non-current assets.

(27) Segment information

The Group identifies operating segments based on the internal organisation structure, management requirements and internal reporting system, and discloses segment information of reportable segments which is determined on the basis of operating segments.

An operating segment is a component of the Group that satisfies all of the following conditions: (1) the component is able to earn revenues and incur expenses from its ordinary activities; (2) whose operating results are regularly reviewed by the Group's management to make decisions about resources to be allocated to the segment and to assess its performance, and (3) for which the information on financial position, operating results and cash flows is available to the Group. Two or more operating segments that have similar economic characteristics and satisfy certain conditions can be aggregated into one single operating segment.

(28) Critical accounting estimates and judgements

The Group continually evaluates the critical accounting estimates and key judgements applied based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

(a) Critical accounting estimates and key assumptions

The critical accounting estimates and key assumptions that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next accounting year are outlined below:

(i) Assessment for the impairment of contractual rights to provide management services

As at 31 December 2019,, the carrying amount of contractual rights to provide management services to Yiwu Health Centre, Pujiang Hospital and Chunan Hospital was RMB45,162,735 (31 December 2018: RMB47,397,506). Management performs review for impairment of such assets whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of contractual rights to provide management services may not be recoverable. The recoverable amount of the contractual rights to provide management services was recognised based on the discounted cash flow method and the calculations of this method required the use of significant estimates and assumptions on the projections of cash flows from the continuous use of contractual rights to provide management services.

The Group continually evaluates the critical accounting estimates and key judgements applied based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

(i) Assessment for the impairment of contractual rights to provide management services (continued)

Key assumptions adopted to recognise the recoverable amount of the contractual rights to provide management services mainly include:

	Yiwu Health Centre	Pujiang Hospital and Chunan Hospital
Average number of in-patient beds in operation*	373	233
Average in-patient spending per day per bed*	283	204
Gross margin*	6%	33%
Pre-tax discount rate	19.37%	19.94%
Growth rate in the stable period	3%	3%

* It represents the average number in upcoming five years.

The Group determines growth rate and gross margin based on past experience and forecast on future market development, and adopts the pre-tax interest rate that reflects the risks specific to the contractual rights to provide management services as the discount rate. Growth rate in the stable period is the weighted average growth rates applied by the Group to extrapolate cash flows beyond the five-year forecast period, which is consistent with that estimated in the industry reports, and does not exceed the long-term average growth rate of each product. For year ended 31 December 2019 and 31 December 2018, no provision for impairment was made based on management's result of impairment test.

When considering forward-looking information, the indicators used by the Group include the risk of economic downturn, the expected increase in unemployment rate, the external market environment, the technological environment and changes in customer conditions. (iii) Determination for the fair value of investment properties

Investment properties (Note 4(10)) are subsequently measured at fair value using the income approach. The inputs mainly include rental, ultimate return rate/capitalisation rate, vacancy rate, etc.

The related information of fair value measurement is as follows:

	Fair value as at		Significant unobservable inputs
	31 December	Valuation technique	Name	Weighted average	Relationship with fair value	Observable/ Unobservable
Phase I of Business Centre in Higher Education Park	45,679,230	Income approach	Ultimate return rate/ Capitalisation rate	5.50%	(a)	Unobservable
			Monthly rental (RMB/m ² /month)	37.04-47.26
			Vacancy rate	2.74%
Phase II of Business Center in Higher Education Park	65,176,870	Income approach	Ultimate return rate/ Capitalisation rate	5.00%	(a)	Unobservable

i) According to the signed leases, the vacancy rate of the property is 0 during the forecast period.

(a) Relationship between the unobservable inputs and the fair value:

- the higher the ultimate return rate/capitalisation rate is, the lower the fair value is;
- the higher the estimated vacancy rate is, the lower the fair value is;
- the higher the monthly rental is, the higher the fair value is;

(iv) Accounting estimates on impairment of goodwill

The Group tests annually whether goodwill has suffered any impairment. The recoverable amount of asset groups and groups of asset groups is the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from them. These calculations require use of estimates (Note 4(15)).

If management revises the average number of in-patient beds in operation, average in-patient spending per day per bed, gross margin and perpetual growth rate that are used in the calculation of the future cash flows of asset groups and groups of asset groups, and the revised average number of in-patient beds in operation, average in-patient spending per day per bed, gross margin and perpetual growth rate are lower than those currently used, the Group will recognise further impairment against goodwill.

If management revises the pre-tax discount rate applied to the discounted cash flows, and the revised pre-tax discount rate is higher than the one currently applied, the Group will recognise further impairment against goodwill.

If the actual average number of in-patient beds in operation, average in-patient spending per day per bed, gross margin and perpetual growth rate or pre-tax discount rate in a subsequent period are higher/lower than management's estimates, the impairment loss of goodwill previously provided for is not allowed to be reversed by the Group.

(iii) Judgement on the minimum lease term of lease contract

The Group leased several properties from third parties as operating premises. The lease contracts usually contain break clause, where the Group is allowed to terminate the lease agreement by paying certain amount of penalties to the lessor, usually ranging from one to three months rentals.

The Group determined the minimum non-cancellable terms of lease by considering the following factors:

- the amount of penalties to be paid;
- the balance of leasehold improvements to be written off;
- the availability of alternative operating premises and the competitiveness of the rentals comparable to existing leasing contracts;

If any of these factors changes in the future, the minimum non-cancellable lease term will be revised and accordingly impact the Group's accounting for these operating lease.

(29) Significant changes in accounting policies

The Ministry of Finance released the revised Accounting Standard for Business Enterprises No. 21 – Lease (hereinafter referred to “new lease standard”) in 2018 and released the Circular on the Amendment to the Formats of Corporate Financial Statements for the Year of 2019 (Cai Kuai [2019] No. 6) and the revised Accounting Standard for Business Enterprises No. 7 – Exchange of Non-monetary Assets (hereinafter referred to as “revised standard for exchange of non-monetary assets”) and Accounting Standards for Business Enterprise No. 12 – Debt Restructuring (hereinafter referred to as “revised standard for debt restructuring”) in 2019. The financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2019 were prepared in accordance with the above standards and circular. The revised standards for exchange of non-monetary assets and debt restructuring have no significant impacts on the Group or the Company, and impacts of other revisions on the financial statements of the Group and the Company are as follows:

(a) Leases

The Group and the Company initially adopted the new lease standard on 1 January 2019. According to relevant regulations, the Group and the Company would not reassess the contracts that have already existed prior to the date of initial application. The Group recognised the effect of the standard as an adjustment to relevant line items in the financial statements in 2019. The comparatives for the year ended 31 December 2018 were not restated. As at 1 January 2019, the Company had no lease contract, so the initial implementation of the new lease standard has no significant impacts on the Company.

The nature and the reasons of the changes in accounting policies	The line items affected	The amounts affected
		1 January 2019 The Group
For the operating lease that have already existed prior to the initial application of the new lease standard, the Group adopted different transition approaches based on the remaining lease term:	Right-of-use assets	234,963,917
	Lease liabilities	(198,596,521)
	Current portion of non-current liabilities	(26,230,361)
	Prepayment	(9,871,004)
	Other non-current assets	(4,097,899)
If the remaining lease period is longer than 1 year, the Group measures lease liabilities based on the present value of remaining lease payments discounted using the Group's incremental borrowing rate on 1 January 2019 ("initial application date"). Right-of-use assets are measured as the same amount as lease liabilities, and are adjusted according to the prepaid rental.	Other payables	3,831,868

If the remaining lease term is less than 1 year, the Group adopts a simplified method and do not recognise right-of-use assets and lease liabilities, which has no significant impact on the financial statements.

The Group applied the practical expedient for operating leases of low-value assets existing prior to the initial application of the new lease standard, under which the right-of-use assets and lease liabilities were not recognised. There was no significant impact on the financial statements.

As at 1 January 2019, the Group adopted the same discount rate for lease contracts with similar characteristics to account for lease liabilities. The weighted average of incremental borrowing rates adopted was 4.53%.

As at 1 January 2019, the Group reconciled the outstanding minimum operating lease payments disclosed under the old lease standard to lease liabilities under the new lease standard as follows:

	The Group
Future minimum operating lease payments disclosed as at 31 December 2018	274,950,045
Present value of the above minimum operating lease payments discounted using the incremental borrowing rate	224,826,882
Lease liabilities recognised as at 1 January 2019 (including current portion of non-current liabilities)	224,826,882

Note 1: The Group and the Company did not consider factors such as the extension option when disclosing outstanding minimum operating lease payments as at 31 December 2018. When determining the lease liabilities at the initial application date, the Group and the Company included lease payments for the periods covered by the extension option when it is reasonably certain to exercise that option.

(15) Goodwill (continued)

- (b) The recoverable amounts of asset groups and groups of asset groups of the healthcare segment are calculated using the estimated cash flows determined according to the five-year budget approved by management, together with the constant growth rates thereafter (as described in the table below). The main assumptions are as follows:

	Nanjing Yining Hospital	Wenling Nanfang Hospital	Beijing Yining Hospital	Huainan Kangning Hospital	Changchun Kanglin Hospital	Others
Average number of beds in operation*	237	279	33	252	252	235

Perpetual growth rate	3%	3%	3%	3%	3%	3%
Gross margins	12% - 41%	35% - 40%	1% - 23%	32% - 43%	27% - 44%	13% - 31%
Pre-tax discount rate	19.85%	20.34%	19.10%	20.12%	19.57%	21.30%

* It represents the average number in upcoming five years.

The Group determines growth rate and gross margin based on past experience and forecast on future market development, and adopts the pre-tax interest rate that reflects the risks specific to the related asset groups and groups of asset groups as the discount rate. Growth rate in the stable period is the weighted average growth rates applied by the Group to extrapolate cash flows beyond the five-year forecast period, which is consistent with that estimated in the industry reports, and does not exceed the long-term average growth rate of each product.

13 Financial risk

The Group's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk (primarily foreign exchange risk and interest rate risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Group's overall risk management programme focuses on the unpredictability of financial markets and seeks to minimise potential adverse effects on the Group's financial performance.

(1) Market risk

(a) Foreign exchange risk

The Group's major operational activities are carried out in mainland China and a majority of the transactions are denominated in RMB. The Group is exposed to foreign exchange risk arising from the recognised assets denominated in foreign currencies (mainly denominated in Hong Kong dollars). The Group's finance department at its headquarter is responsible for monitoring the amount of assets and liabilities, and transactions denominated in foreign currencies, to reduce foreign exchange risk to the greatest extent.

As at 31 December 2019 and 31 December 2018, the carrying amounts in RMB equivalent of the Group's financial assets denominated in foreign currencies were summarised below:

	31 December 2019		Total
	HKD	USD
Cash at bank and on hand	3,333,874	8,143,081	11,476,955

	31 December 2018		Total
	HKD	USD
Cash at bank and on hand	34,063,970	15,166,718	49,230,688

As at 31 December 2019, for the Group's various financial assets denominated in HKD and USD, if the RMB strengthened/weakened by 3% against the HKD and USD while all other variables had been held constant, the Group's net profit for the year will be approximately RMB258,231 (31 December 2018: RMB1,107,690) lower/higher.

(All amounts in RMB Yuan unless otherwise stated)

(b) Interest rate risk

The Group's interest rate risk arises from long-term interest bearing borrowings including long-term borrowings from banks. Financial liabilities issued at floating rates expose the Group to cash flow interest rate risk. Financial liabilities issued at fixed rates expose the Group to fair value interest rate risk. The Group determines the relative proportions of its fixed rate and floating rate contracts depending on the prevailing market conditions. As at 31 December 2019, the Group's long-term interest bearing borrowings were mainly RMB-denominated with fixed rates, amounting to RMB40,000,000 (31 December 2018: RMB80,000,000). As at 31 December 2019, the Group had RMB20,000,000 of long-term borrowings measured at floating rate (Note 4(27)) (31 December 2018: Nil).

The Group's finance department at the headquarter continuously monitors the interest rate position of the Group. Increases in interest rates will increase the cost of new interest bearing borrowings and the interest expenses with respect to the Group's outstanding floating rate borrowings, and therefore could have a material adverse effect on the Group's financial position. The Group's management makes adjustments timely with reference to the latest market conditions.

(2) Credit risk

Credit risk is managed on the grouping basis. Credit risk mainly arises from bank deposits, accounts receivable, other receivables and long-term receivables, etc.

The Group expects that there is no significant credit risk associated with bank deposits since they are deposited at state-owned banks and other medium or large size listed banks. Management expects that there will be low risk of significant losses from non-performance by these counterparties.

The accounts receivable of the Group is mainly from sale of medicines to patients, the provision of medical services, and management service. According to the social insurance policies of each hospital's location, the medical expenses of the patients are usually borne by the patients themselves and the social insurance. The Company usually collects part of the advances when the patient goes through the hospitalisation procedures, and settle part of the patient's personal debt when he leaves the hospital. For the patients with outstanding payment after leaving the hospital, the Company will recover the debt by collecting on a regular basis. For the medical expense that borne by the social insurance, the Company will apply for reimbursement to the social insurance institutions after issuing invoices to patients. The reimbursement is usually collected 2 – 9 months after application for reimbursement. The Company believed that there was no material credit risk in this part of payment. There was part of medical expenses of the Group that was paid by government departments such as Civil Affairs and Disabled Persons' Federation where the hospitals are located. The Group would adopt different collection monitoring mechanisms for different payment methods.
